

George Jones, Worried mind

You promised me love that would never die that promise you've made was only a lie
Now after you'