

George Morgan, Just Your Conscience

That voice you hear inside is just your conscience

Why do you bother me why can't you let me be
It's all your fault you know why did you hurt me so
I tried to play it smart I broke my baby's heart
That voice you hear my dear is just your conscience

Each time I think I'm free a voice inside of me
Whisper soft and low why don't you let go
I just can't break away it's with me night and day
That voice you hear inside is just your conscience

Why do you bother me...
That voice you hear my dear is just your conscience
That voice you hear my dear is just your conscience
