

George Strait, Anything You Can Spare

If you have any left of her kisses
When you're through with your latest affair
Don't let them just waste, I know how they taste
I'll take anything you can spare

And if you have a few idle moments
If you're lonely and nobody's there
I'll gladly fill in until you find a new friend
I'll take anything you can spare

Yes, I'll even take some heartaches from you
Though I've already more than my share
I love you all the time, so baby keep me in mind
I'll take anything you can spare
