George Strait, You're Dancing This Dance All Wro

(John Porter McMeans/Ron Moore)

As I waltz in the arms of somebody new Could it be what I feel may be too much too soon But the way that you touch me, I want to give in It's not so easy holding you when

You're dancing this dance all wrong New steps don't come easy when old memories hang on I'm finding I'm falling as the music plays on Keep dancing this dance all wrong

A new partner's touch to an old partner's song

I'm getting the feeling as we dance along Two strangers tonight won't be strangers for long Keep dancing this dance all wrong

You're dancing this dance all wrong New steps don't come easy when old memories hang on I'm finding I'm falling as the music plays on Keep dancing this dance all wrong

You're dancing this dance all wrong New steps don't come easy when old memories hang on I'm finding I'm falling as the music plays on Keep dancing this dance all wrong
