George Thorogood, I Really Like Girls

Well, well

I really, really, really, really, really, really like girls Yeah, I really, really, really, really, really, really like girls I like girls I like girls I like the way that they giggle, when they walk up and ask you to dance I like the way that they wiggle, wrapped up in the skin tight pants They got style They got smiles They drive me wild!

Yeah, I really, really, really, really, really, really like girls Yes, I really, really, really, really, really, really like girls! I like them small I like 'em tall I like 'em all! Now it don't bother me, if a girl don't know how to cope Because the things that they know, how to do can't be learned in a book! They got smarts They got hearts They got my heart!

That's why I really, really, really, really, really, really like girls Yeah, I really, really, really, really, really, really like girls! I want 'em small I want 'em tall I want 'em all! Every day in every way they're here to stay They're really really neat They're really sweet They're real petite I like girls!
