

Ghost Dance, Falling Again

Hear me calling through the wires again
Calling out for you
Through the sky like a bird of prey (hey hey)
Crying out for you
And I crawl on my hands and knees
Like some kind of creature possessed
Try to stand on my own two feet
But I cant seem to find the strength

The night falls so slowly now
As soft as summer rain
And it brings me further down
Hear me calling out your name

Save me I think Im falling again
Save me
I dont know which way to turn
Save me

Theres a weight hanging over me
Hanging over my head
Its too late now for charity
Im way out of my depth

Save me I think Im falling again
Save me
I dont know which way to turn
Save me

Theres a weight hanging over me
Hanging over my head
Its too late now for charity
Im way out of my depth

Save me I think Im falling again
Save me
I dont know which way to turn
Save me

I think Im falling
I think Im falling
I think Im falling again