Ghost Machine, Siesta Loca

I think I'd be better off alone locked away inside a room without any doors Is this really what i was meant to be is this really all there is for me someone tell me that theres something more then this could i be better off asleep

the small hand slowly ticks a way reminding me again that its just a passing phase a cigarette to calm my nerves anything to pass the time and passify the hurt

Someone wake me when this is over Someone tell me when this is over

Someone wake me when this is over Someone wake me when this is over