

Gino Vannelli, A Woman Crossed In Love

Can stand this silence any more I dying
The words no sooner leave my lips
I out of your life in the beat of a heart
It was selfish it was cruel undeniably uncool
Have your way with me
Slap me twice across the face once for a stolen embrace
Once more for honesty
They say the truth will set you free
It true for some but not for me
No sorry on earth is sorry enough
To win back the heart of a woman crossed in love
Call me shameless I don care I love you
Desperate measures for desperate times
So much for the sway of a kiss
Darling here I am your ever-loving man
In his darkest hour
Had I known it meant goodbye I would have sooner lived a lie
Than live without you girl
They say the truth will set you free
It true for some but not for me
No sorry on earth is sorry enough
To win back the heart of a woman crossed in love
So it over like that pack you bags your coat and hat
End of story
Before I fade away hear me when I say
Baby I sorry
They say the truth will set you free
It true for some but not for me
No sorry on earth is sorry enough
To win back the heart of a woman crossed in love
No sorry on earth is sorry enough
To win back the heart of a woman crossed in love
