

Gino Vannelli, Tierras De Amores Y Sombras

(Translated version by Guillermo Ainciburu)

Give me the rain
Give me the sun
I hate a sky like this
Give me black or give me light
I don't want a world in grey
Take me in your dreams
Through the storms
Give me an eternal kiss between lights and gloom
Take away my body to the end of hopes
And today you go
And you're mist in the desert
For love I give my faith
I give my life and laments
No mercy for feel
Now I'm tears and fire
And today I've forgotten
From which side of the mirror
Comes the light of the daybreak
By loving I've lose my heart
Honey there's no place
Where I can love without fear
Where time can stop
Without hurting
Take me to dance
In lands of loves and shadows
A road that your breath
Has embroidered
In my soul.
So much thirst for your love
So much heaven and hell
No mercy for living
I'm guilty of my foolish love
And today I have forgotten
From which side of the mirror
Comes the light of the daybreak
By loving I've lose my heart
Honey there's no place...