

Ginuwine, Glaze In My Eye you saw me sittin' all alone at the bar wit my hat dipped low drinkin a glass of gin with no ice and even though I sipped it slow it would burn like a volcano that's when you came, sat down, and said 'hi' and you didn't even reconize who I was but I didn't mind 'cause I feelin' like signin' autograrhs (no, no, no)

you saw me as a normal guy and you treated me oh so nice you just wanted to know why I looked sad that's when I said

I'm sad 'cause I had a soul tye and when she left my soul died thought we'd be together for life (thought we'd be together for life)
I lost her 'cause of my damn pride I'm a man that can't cry but look at me now with my face in the ground and a glaze in my eye

I was so tuff
'till she called my bluff packed up all her stuff and left me here with a glaze in my eye my whole life I was taught a man don't show his heart but that's a foolish thought
'cause now I got a glaze in my eye and its harder to hide my runny nose and my throat is dry but I'm still tryin' not to let it show (still not tryin' to let the feeling show) I'll just blame it on the alcohol 'cause I makes me think I'm strong but that's some bull and we both know(we both know) we both know I can't believe I told some waitress all of my personal business and I really ain't believe you'd understand but you did understand you said everyone has issues and you passed me a tissue and told me that crying is what shows that I'm a real man

I'm sad 'cause I had a soul tye
and when she left my soul died thought we would be together for life (thought we'd be together for life)
I lost her 'cause of my damn pride
I'm a man that can't cry so look at me now put my face in the ground and I glaze in my eye

I was so tuff

and left me here with a glaze in my eye
a man don't show his heart
'cause now I got a glaze in my eye (repeat 2x)

I'm sorry baby
