Glasseater, Pale Blue Face

Seeing it from the other side Who's laughing now? Turned out all your games were worthless My head is still intact, I'm on top now How can you still deny You know i've seen it with my very eyes Count me out of your life, as i kick you out of mine Let me take this knife that you stuck in my back and wave it in front of your face Right before i shove it in your throat You look nicely Laying in my closet, underneath my clothes Holy shit I just woke up Was it a dream? No, you're still there!