

Glasvegas, If

The walls... I never ever spare
If not ... out, I couldn't recognize the...
If not for ... the chain, ... come by invisible
If no...here
If not for bad start
The good will never be here, enough
If not for loneliness, our faith is somewhere in the wilderness
If our love was ever to part ways, then the... would never ever spare, again

If there's no words of violence, that can't whisper scream of sonic silence
If not for fear, a hope is nowhere near
If not for real, the sun will never split the skies again
...into the words we should shed
Fear not, our rest is only up ahead
If not for loneliness, our faith is somewhere in the wilderness
If our love was ever to part ways, then the... would never ever spare, again
Never ever spare, again,

On the road to somewhere, you're on the road to somewhere
We're on the road to somewhere
If not for real, the sun will never spread the skies again
...into the words we should shed
Fear not, our rest is only up ahead
If for,
If there's no words of violence, that can't whisper scream of sonic silence
If not for fear, a hope is nowhere near

If not for loneliness
A friend is somewhere in the wilderness
If our love was ever to part ways
Then the world as I know it would never ever spin again

I'm on the road to somewhere
You're on the road to somewhere
We're on the road to somewhere

If not for rain
The sun would never split the sky again
If in doing what was right we should tread
Feeling all our rescue's only up ahead

If not for fear
Our hope is nowhere near

If not for loneliness
A friend is somewhere in the wilderness
If our love was ever to part ways
Then the world as I know it would never ever spin

If not for loneliness
A friend is somewhere in the wilderness
If our love was ever to part ways
Then the world as I know it would never ever spin again
