

Gloria Estefan, Dangerous Game

I know i let you in
I let down my defenses momentarily
At this moment of my life to be surprised
With feelings i can never satisfy

The words you wrote would free
My carefully protected vulnerability
Doesn't matter that both wear a disguise
We can read the truth between the lines

Dangerous game
Who's spared when it's over tomorrow
I'd be a fool to keep this alive
When i know this can't go anywhere

You know you let me in
You lost your self-control to curiosity
Took the bait, i should have never lit the spark
Answering your questions in the dark

Dangerous game
Who's spared when it's over tomorrow
I'd be a fool to keep this alive
When i know this can't go anywhere

Who's the one to blame when things begin to fall apart
Never mind i should have known much better than to even start
How'd you make it over all the walls i build so high
Believing all you had to do was try

Dangerous game
Who's spared when it's over tomorrow
I'd be a fool to keep this alive
When i know this can't go anywhere
