

God Module, Sections

Take off your head to left me in
So I can understand you
Take off your hands so I can feel
If there is anything left inside of you

Remember to smile
While I cut out what's bad inside of you
Remember to cry to pretend you're alive
While I hide inside of you

Sections of life
Reflections of pain
In this mirror we all look the same

How can I see what you are
When your not anything that I am?
How you be what I was
When it's something you could never understand?