

God's Bow, Moment Of Us...

We wake up the days with our madness
We plunge in the night to hide...
The Earth took all the tears from us
And hide them in her oceans...

She carries our pain of existence...
She drowns our joy in herself...

We close our eye-lids from our own rain
Proudly defeating the matter

Like the lost children of the Earth
We embrace to feel the warm...

We are not alone our thought calms down
To be the only one prompts our pride...
Our eyes become her mirror
When we give our souls and thoughts to the oceans...