

God's Property From Kirk Franklin's Nu Nation, H

The spring of April's gone the leaves have all turned brown.
The children are all grown up and there is no one around.
I'm looking over my life and all of the mistakes i've made.
And im afraid, afriad.

(but listen) some body told me that you would wash all my sins (halaluah) and cleanse me from the scars that are so deep with in so I'm calling to you.
If you can hear me
I dont know how(he's never too busy) I was wondering can you hold me now

(You are the only one) You are the only one thats patient when i fall (and your angels) your angels come to save me everytime i call (thats why im here for you) You dont laught at me when i make mistakes an cry (your not like them) your not like man.
You understand me

See people change one day they don't like you the next they do I wish that everyone could love me just like you So here i am this sinful man peace wont allow i was wondering can you hold me now i was wondering can u hold me now kirk franklin talking

To every broken person that may hear this song to every boy or girl that feels their smile is gone i know exactly how it feels to lay in the bed at night and cry and cry

don't you worry god is faithful and he cares about the tears you drop and the pain you feel he's there when you are weak, that's when he's strong even though you dont know how yeah yeah yeah
yeah yeah yeah
yeah yeah yeah
god can and he will hold you now
god can and he will hold you now
god can and he will hold you now dont you worry he can hold you now
