Godhead, Afterthoughts

Sifting through the
Ashes of my life
I thought I found the one that
I could always trust
Slowly I began to learn that
I can never judge the things
That mean the most to me
And all the hate and anger,
That they all put on you
You just threw on me And

I don't believe that
I, could ever be with you
And I don't believe that we,
Could ever be together
Calling out to you,

Try to show the truth
But you just carry on Killing everything that we once had
And never really understanding why

And I don't believe that I, could ever be with you And I don't believe that we, Could ever be together You've taken everything and Left me here with nothing

And I don't believe that I, could ever be with you And I don't believe that we, Could ever be together