When I sit by myself
I know it's the lonely way
What I had in myself
I have lost along the way But
I choose by this time
To be isolated I know
You must think now That
I am already dead But
I still belong to me
But I still belong to me

When my mind tells my soul
I need to be with someone
I reject all I feel For
I'm not a chosen one
You will see that I know
I will never be assured
That the one I will be
Has been lost along the shore
But I still belong to me But
I still belong to me
