

Goldfinger, Too Late

The young boy has turned into a man
and he's growing stronger he's battled through things he thought he could go on no longer
father stood by his side wanting nothing more than just be his dad
but pride only answers
to one call
he only condemns him

and if the boy only knew the father's pain
the nights that he stayed up late
wondered why
doesn't he see the future is so bleak so bleak

father's retired now he's left with tv and rest the weight of the world and what did he do wrong has gone to his chest
he had such a good life
the family he loved
were all by his side
to his son he whispered goddamn this pride

so fuck i'm all by myself now you've gone away
you've left me
all by myself
with that fucked up
thing you said
if i could forgive myself
you knew the way
now i'm all by myself
and i'm sorry

but if you only knew
your son's pain
how bad that he wanted
you to say
you're doing just fine
you turned out to be
one good guy
but it's too late
