

Good Riddance, Always

You are the only one
Who comprehends me
I tell them my spirit, lift with every card you send me
I'm trying to be the perfect boy
The one you wished for
And now is like a dream
When I hold you in my arms

Don't turn your pretty face away
I dream about you when I sleep
I'd wait a thousand lifetimes just to see you smile
You are always on my mind
You are always on my mind

Still it is so hard, to complicated
Until I can reflect on the years I've waited
To find you now nothing matters more
Than being with you
Not the distance or the miles between
My heart i give to you

Don't turn your pretty face away
I dream about you when I sleep
I wait a thousand lifetimes just to see you smile
You are always on my mind
You are always on my mind
