

Good Riddance, Darkest Days

Put it down touch it from the atmosphere make it all the mindless as the face of fear I never even cared about what I could be declared on by the war on authority I doubt you need cause I'm a bad seed running on adrenaline and licking on greed I'm tired of being I'm sick of my seeing looking for the end or playing so that I can finally come clean

Cause I remember one time something to live for, now so long ago faces always are changing lies in disguise for all the things we know one time something to live for somehow I've lost my way those times have pissed away now there go away my darkest days

Walking every day thinking that I know best wearing my contempt like a bullet-proof vest on my way gonna make it all mine roll it in the gutter just to kill some time but I was dead wrong and now it's all gone I won't become the fool that I've abused for so long the lines played out I've gotta get back chase away the negative and throw away the useless track

Cause I remember one time
one time something to live for

I've seen things I hope I'll never see again I don't want to have to variate in more than friends living on the edge at the start of good times dieing as the record seems to late to go and climbs one time

something to live for, now so long ago
one time something to live for
