

Good Riddance, Wrong Again

i saw you from a distance somehow i knew our paths would cross someday in my eyes you could do no wrong i never thought i'd ever have someone like you you came at a time when i could count my friends on one hand and i don't think i want to be another float in your sad parade and it makes me wonder is this how you've treated all the friends you've made i put you on a pedestal i knew it was the worst thing i could do i used to feel that way black and grey now everything is fucked up there's people talking shit it looks like i was wrong and i don't care who's right i don't want to fight

why me
this tape's been played before is this what friends are for
it's all my fault
wrong again