

Goodnight Nurse, Our Song

Hangs on my wall
And I'm surprised I even noticed it at all
The years have warped the frame
A crack runs through the pain
And it's begun to fade
But the picture's still the same
If you look close enough you'll know

Sing me your song
I'll sing my song
You had to go
You know you're my hero
Time keeps marching on
This is our song

So now I stare
At an empty Room
But memories give my soul a different view
Of all the lives you've touched
You taught me so much
Now angels lift you up
To a place you loved so much
And you'll be welcome there I know

Sing me your song
I'll sing my song
You had to go
You know you're my hero
Time keeps marching on
This is our song

This is a sad goodbye
But it's not a bad goodbye

Well I don't know
What I believe
All I know is there's more to it than me
It's time for you to go
To say goodbye I know
I cross my T's real slow
And close my eyes
If you look close enough you'll know

Sing me your song
I'll sing my song
You had to go
You know you're my hero
Time keeps marching on
This is our song

This is a sad goodbye
But it's not a bad goodbye

This is a sad goodbye
