Gothminister, Dark Salvation

Half as bright, twice as long Message from times yet to come Misty fields of no return Only the wicked children burn If you don't behave yourself You are going straight to hell To a place where God is gone You will meet the darkest one

Bloodred skies
Where demons fly
Disobey, and it comes alive
You are doomed until
We change your will
You must learn
The good ones live
The others burn

If you don't behave yourself We will have a soul to sell There is still a way to learn Only the wicked children burn

Here comes the dark salvation Here comes the dark one with his cane The cane it burns a little stitch And then he fries The little child
