

Gotye, In Your Light

Get up in the morning
And I can't keep it in
I'm falling all over myself
And I could jump out of my skin
Wanna break the door down
Just to greet the day
There is nothing that's more certain
To keep my blues away, and I say...

La la, hey hey

And it can settle the sadness
And the voices in my head
When I'm in the glow of the warmth you throw
I can put all that to bed

In your light, just when I'm in your light [x6]
And I won't get by if you take that light away

When you're smiling on me
That is all I need
To put behind me all my worries
And life's complexities

It may be only a moment
But the world just falls away
And I forget myself
And everything else
That depressed me yesterday
And I can sing

La la, hey hey

When I'm in your light
All of this is clear
If only I could always be just as I am right here
In your light, just when I'm in your light
And I won't get by if you take that light away

When I'm in your light
Nothing brings me down
If only I could always feel just as I do right now
In your light, just when I'm in your light
And I won't get by if you take that light away
When I'm in your light
All of this is clear
If only I could always be just as I am right here
In your light, just when I'm in your light
And I won't get by if you take that light away
