Graham Colton Band, A Hole I Can't Fill In

Don't look back

Cause we've been here before

But it makes no sense at all

Because all my past is strewn across my floor

And the writings on the wall

And mind is wandering

And my shoes have all worn thin

And it feels like every moment in my life

There's a hole I can't fill in

So give me a reason

That everbody's here

And don't tell me you don't know

Cause every lesson

Just don't seem as clear

Your time is up

You're free to go

And my mind is wandering

And my shoes have all worn thin

And it feels like every moment in my life

There's a hole I can't fill in

Don't look back

Cause we've been here before

But it makes no sense at all

Because all my past is strewn across my floor

And the writings on the wall

And mind is wandering

And my shoes have all worn thin And it feels like every moment in my life There's a hole I can't fill i

And my shoes have all worn thin

And it feels like every moment in my life

There's a hole I can't fill in

And it feels like every moment in my life

There's a hole I can't fill in
