

Graham Colton Band, All The World Tonight

All of the innocence has gone, Away
Son, someday, you'll be a man
All of the air I breathe has after taste
Son, someday you'll understand
Cause I am looking off, in the distance
Beyond the neon lights
And I can see all
All the world tonight
All the memories are locked away
Soon someday you'll take them down
All this waiting for my big parade
Soon someday its coming to town
Cause I am looking off, in the distance
Beyond the neon lights
And I can see all
The stars are out tonight
But I'm missing all
Of my good friends
I promised I would write
And I can see all
All the world tonight
Cause Im looking off, in the distance
Beyond the neon lights
And I can see all
The stars are out tonight
And I missing all of my good friends
I promised I would write
And I can see all
The moments passing by
Yeah im looking across all the buildings
And all the billboard signs
I can see all
All the world
All the world tonight
Cause I can see everything
And I can see everything
And I can see everything
Yeah, I know I got everything
And I can see everything
And I can see everything
And I can see everything
Yeah, I know I got everything
Yeah yeah yeah yeah