Graham Colton Band, Find Me

There's no more incense burning in the room There's no more suspense before we touch And all the time spent to make you happy And all I find then is what I wanted was You and only you I try to say good bye Find then something give me one more try Cause you and only you I try to say goodbye Find then something give me one more try And all the time with my naked self I put my clothes on and feel like someone else But with all the love spent it creates a sin She is water that sticks in my skin You and only you I try to say goodbye Find then something give me one more try Cause you and only you I try to say goodbye Find then something give me one more try It was you and only you I try to say goodbye Find then something give me one more try Cause you and only you I try to say goodbye Find then something give me one more try Theres no more incense burning in the room theres no more suspense before we touch And all the time spent to make you happy And all I find then was what I wanted was You and only you I try to say goodbye Find then something give me one more try Cause you and only you I try to say goodbye Find then something give me one more try
