

Graham Colton Band, I Can't Stand Here Waiting

i can't say one more time i see your face and i am fine and every time i see you i fight for words and though i try to reach you and i can't feel

i can't stand here waiting thinking about your smile all the lights are fading on the carnival ride and i can't stand the colors that remind me of the past how could i be so stupid to think this would last and i can't stand here waiting and i look out to the broken glass sky lights turned down, they fade into night

and every time i see you i fight for words
and though i try to reach you and i can't feel

i can't stand here waiting thinking about your smile
all the lights are fading on the carnival ride
and i can't stand the colors that remind me of the past
how could i be so stupid to think this would last
and i can't stand here waiting
and i can't stand here waiting (x2)

and i can't stand here waiting
and i can't stand here waiting