

Graham Nash, Another Sleep Song

All I need is someone to awaken me much of me has gone to sleep and I'm afraid to wake up shake me by the shoulder if I'm lying with you now when I talk about the time I sleep away when it's hard to face the day.

When I think of all the love that's taken me how much do I get to keep and much should I give up?
shake me by the shoulder if I'm lying to you now I'm listening to the lies inside my head who can hurt you in your bed?

Fear of other people is a thing I hate
I travel in a bubble and I can't relate.
Something is happening to my head
I don't want to hurt you but I never heard a word you said

Has this empty hollow heart forsaken me?
I wonder if I'll ever get to feel like I did before I grew up.
shake me by the shoulder if I'm lying with you now
There is no time to waste another day cause we watch them fly away.