

Grammatrain, Something More

I just opened up my eyes
And let the world come climbing in
Its all better now, things are gonna work somehow
If I just sleep another hour
Tried to reach you at your moms
Hey baby why're you trying to keep away for so long
I stopped feeling good, somehow I just knew I would
I guess Ill sleep another hour
Feels like Im wasting my time
Hanging on this same old line
Got to get you off of my mind
Theres nothing left for me to find

And all the more I want
All the more I need
All the while you want something more
All the more I want
All the more I need
All the while you want something more

Thought I found the words to say
Just to get you feeling fine over heels my way
But it dont matter how
I lost the word and nerve and now
Theres nothing more for me to say
Feels like Im wasting my time
Hanging on this same old line
Theres nothing left for me to find

And all the more I want
All the more I need
All the while you want something more
All the more I want
All the more I need
All the while you want something

Theres nothing left for me to say
Wanting what I need this way
And when Im feeling low I know
I need to stop

And someday you will see
All the more you want
All the more youll need me
All the while Ill be on to something more
And all the more you want
All the more youll need me
All the while I want something more
I want something more
I want something more than this