

Grant Lee Buffalo, Change Your Tune

Well it may be hard to swallow
It may come as some surprise
I ain't askin' for apologies
I done tried them on for size

Lay your head back on the pillow
Let your eyes roll 'cross the floor
See the center of the universe
Just isn't you no more

Right now you could use a change of tune
Right now no one needs it more that you
I know everyone is wicked
Won't you change your tune
Change your tune
Change your tune

I've been such a pollyanna
I just rolled back like a rug
Oh but you can't understand that no
'Cause you're in the hole you dug

Right now you could use a change of tune
Right now no one needs it more that you
I know everyone is wicked
Won't you change your tune
Change your tune
Change your tune

It's a dead-end street
It's a dead-end street
That's what you're tryin' to tell me
It's a dead issue
When it's done it's through
But I said it all so help me
Ah ah ah

Right now you could use a change of tune
Right now no one needs it more that you
I know everyone is wicked
Won't you change your tune
Change your tune
Change your tune
