

Grateful Dead, Green, green grass of home

The old home town looks the same as I step off the train
Meeting every train in my minds eye till the