Grave Digger, Emerald Eyes

[The story of the love between Arthur and Guinvere. Lying on his deathbed, Arthur sings of his des

You're a precious girl In a tragile shell With a rose coloured skin And a roses smell

Your long golden hair Reflecting the light Your Emerald Eyes Twinkle like stars in the night

Your smile shines brighter than the sun Your smile shines brighter than the sun

You are my queen Choose who is worthy of you You are my queen Your warm heart's shining through You are my queen

I forgive and forget whatever you do

Your body divine From me you don't hide The flame of desire That is burning inside

Your ivory hands Opened me the gate To the meaning of life Where love conquers hate

Your smile shines brighter than the sun