

Grave, In Love

You lie so nice in front of me
As I brought you from your grave
You lost some skin and a lot of weight
But still you look sexy in your new shape

People blame me for being insane
But I am just in love
Why doesn't anybody understand
That sickness is my command

Every morning I think you are there
I ca still feel the warmth from your body
I've missed you for far too long
That's why I bring you back where you belong

People blame me for being insane
But I am just in love
Why doesn't anybody understand
That sickness is my command

I have thoughts of commit suicide
So I can be where you are now
Where you are I want to be
That's why I bring you back to me

When we get home, I'll split your legs
On this dark day of desecration

I love you as much now as back then
When you were alive and loving wife
After this I'll try again
To pull the trigger and make my day