

Graveland, Fed By The Beasts

One day an eagle kidnaped him,
When he was only two years old.
Eagle raised him to infinite expanses
And brought him to his nest.
Eagle's claws were very sharp.
They wounded his body hard.
The blood was running plentifully.
Nobody could hear his screams and calls

An eagle had no children,
So he was bringing meat and feeding the nipper.
Why did Gods choose such a fate for him ?
Why didn't eagle kill this child ?

Winters and years passed away.
An eagle taught his son to kill unexpectedly.
A wolf taught its daughter to hunt and beset the victim.

Nowadays their home villages
Are covered by ashes and trees brought to the ground.
All of their families passed away,
Because nobody wanted to accept the new belief.
They fought and died in fight till the last breath.

One day she retired from home,
The herd of wolves appeared on the forest's border.
It happened in winter when herd felt a hunger.
A wolf caught her and went into the woods.

Screams and cries didn't change anything.
Wolfish fangs wounded her painfully.
She couldn't do anything, she was too little.
She was only a few years old.

A wolf had no children,
So he was bringing meat and feed her.
Why did Gods choose such a fate for her ?
Why didn't wolf kill her, feeling hunger ?

Today no christian can enter the woods...
Armoured knights going for hunting never come back.
Blood permeates through the earth fast.
This winter wolves aren't hungry.

When my spirit was walking through the forest,
I met her and him.
It was very cold evening and the sun was setting.
They stood on the forest's border,
The wind was blowing through their hair...
And night was falling down.