

Graveworm, Awaiting The Shining

Awaiting the shining, the fire neverseen
Waiting for the mourning light
I raise my hands to the sky
As I see the moon in my eyes
The night falls down on my way
Through the clouds it shines on me
As I walk through eternity
Wolves run by my side

Fullmoon in my eyes reflecting the death

Twisted trees clawing at the skies
Creatures of the night
Frozen winds through the time
Whispers my name

Fly on my wings through the darkest of night
Feel the pain and try to die
Never see the light before
Lost sense of a dying world

The black night before me
I stand secluded there
A godless portal to hell

I could see the gate
Rise before me
I entered the reign of death

Shadows appear in front of me
Painful harmony

Through the winds into the night
I'll proclaim my life
Once again a voice calls to me
A shadow crawled along my side
Eyes of the night gaze at me
Dancing souls of mankind

Fullmoon in my eyes reflecting the light

Awaiting the shining, the fire neverseen
Waiting for the mourning light
I raise my hands to the sky
As I see the light of life