

Graveworm, Into The Dust Of Eden

When the moon is full
The stars are shining bright
Children of the night

Following the path
Searching for the light
The visions of the time

As the rain starts falling to the ground
The angels flying high
And (the) candles burning all around
The dust of Eden light

Searching for the way
Dwells in deepest dark
The sound of heaven calls

Into promised land
Where sleeping angels lie
Surrounded by their song

As the moon is rising in the sky
I see the sacred stone
And the gate of heaven will arrive
The power of this world

Where I should die
Angels spreading their wings of flames
Flying with the winds of fate
Through mirrors of heavenly forces
See the shining light

Lying - on the lake
Awaiting - the time
Seeing - the moonlight sky
Fighting - for your soul

Ablazing souls
Searching for the way
Surrounded songs
Falling from the earth
When I shall see the dust of Eden light

Portals of faith
Standing behind my self
Mother of earth
Release me from my pain
When I shall see the dust of Eden light

When the moon is full
The stars are shining bright
Children of the night

Following the path
Searching for the light
The visions of the time

As the rain starts falling to the ground
The angels flying high
And candles burning all around
The dust of Eden light

Searching for the way
Dwells in deepest dark

The sound of heaven calls

Into promised land
Where sleeping angels lie
Surrounded by their song

As the moon is rising in the sky
I see the sacred stone
And the gate of heaven will arrive
The power of this world