

Gravity Kills, Beg And Borrow

You stare at the wall
The shadow's gone
The image seems so hollow

Identity lost
Before you're gone
I heard you falling

You're pathetic alone
You're pathetic alone
So pathetic alone
You reap what you sow

You write on the wall
Contemptuous
It's flowing from your fingers

You beg and borrow
Like no tomorrow
To give me anything
That makes it go away

You beg and borrow
Like no tomorrow
To give me anything
That makes it go away

A head on the floor
The room caves in
You feel so broken into

You're peeling apart
So take your skin
You're building up your wall

You're a manic alone
You're a manic alone
You're a manic alone
You reap what you sow

So deep in my throat

It makes me choke
I'm gagging on your fingers

You beg and borrow
Like no tomorrow
To give me anything
That makes it go away

You beg and borrow
Like no tomorrow
To give me anything
That makes it go away

The further you fall
The more I worship you
You scratch and you claw
Until I'm black and blue

You sink like a stone
And no one's left for you (and no one's there for you)
Out on your own

They beg and they borrow, too (you beg and you borrow, too)

In your world
It falls around you
In your world
It's all about you
In your world
It falls around you
In your world
It's all about you
In your world
It falls around you
In your world
It's all about you

You beg and borrow
Like no tomorrow
To give me anything
That makes it go away