Gravity Kills, Falling

Taking what you want, stealing what you need
Looking all around or finding in between
The less that I can see the more that you control
I want to feel the warmth but all I feel is cold
My eyes aren't letting me see, I want them to
You know you are making me bleed, I want you to
Why won't you listen to me, I want you to
Look what it's doing to me - I know that
I push you and you fall
I'm shaking and I want it all
I will use you, I will make you
I will give and take and break you
Am I like you falling in too
I don't know who I've turned into now
If I fell into a hole would I even care
I spit out all the anger I sucked in the dispair
I swallow what you give it cuts me at the seam
Catch everything that spills and fill it up with me
My eyes aren't letting me see, I want them to
You know you are making me bleed, I want you to
Why won't you listen to me, I want you to
Look what it's doing to me - I know that
I push you and you fall
I'm shaking and I want it all
I will use you, I will make you
I will give and take and break you
Am I like you falling in too
I don't know who I've turned into now
My eyes aren't letting me see
You know you're making me bleed
Why won't you listen to me
Look what it's doing to me - I know that
I will give in descend again
I will take in here in again
I will use you, I will make you
I will give and take and break you
Am I like you falling in too
I don't know who I've turned into now
I'm like you
I don't know who I've turned into now
