

Green Autumn, Seasons Change

The taste of heart that pulls you through It leaves your mind
It leaves your mind this empty
The call of faith the love we hate I know it creeps inside it shows

Remind us all the love is in our head Remind us all to paint the blisters away

Let the rain fall down and let it all go by alone

Fooled by far The brightest star seemed to tell us the season's out of heart Fear to lose the sight of hope as it gets closer Erase your voice without a tone when you long to be alone Embrace the heart the one you own

And let the rain fall down let the rain come around again for the tidal and if you leave it alone (promise me) alone (lights will lead) and if you leave it alone (take my hand) alone (we'll search the sea)

You'll face your every flaw, your every scar, on your way You'll face your every war with your only guitar And you wonder where you've been Yet still i sing out the same about you
As seasons change and my lungs bleed in your world

So let the rain fall down And let it all go by
