

Green Carnation, In The Realm Of The Midnight Sun

Black lights, shattered dreams, broken hope shadows over my pale face around the storm once again rage and the wind blow hard and cold while the northern light dances its sad dance

The Moon throws its freezing light, and warm my frozen soul world have casted me and pushed me down into a darkness where only cold and fear can reach me i am alone, even my tears leave me and dissapear...

I sink deeper, stumbling through the vast labyrinth of sadness the track i follow, lead me down to an ocean of sorrow and pain the way back to the light is too long and i dont have the strength enough....

On the beach by the ocean of sorrow my soul finds rest and i fall into eternal sleep here in the realm of darkness....