

Greenwheel, Sticks And Stones

I don't wanna be me anymore than I have to be cuz I've got too much pride in my false Identity I can't look in the mirror too scared of what's staring back at me chorus

Sticks and stones might break my bones but I'll never live tomorrow all alone my hope is gone and my hate has grown but I'm not crying over sticks and stones cross my eyes so I seemed distracted and I'll think happy thoughts for awhile drown my ears in silence I'll just live this lie and fake a smile I'm a friend of a friend but no one cares about that I flexed my name and it got me nothing for each day that goes by I dunno which one's gonna be my last you know I prayed to God but he gave me nothing

chorus

someday I'll find the sun I'll see that light and it will make me strong till then I'll be no one at least that way I'll belong
