

Greg MacPherson, Churchill

It wasn't so cold yesterday. I walked along the river path down where the water starts spinning like

I met my brother yesterday outside the place we went to school and he said he thought I should be