

Grief Of Emerald, Nightspawn

Like that become, when darkness is upon you
After blessings heard in fading breaths
And sink below summer's bereaving carpet
To eternal perverse death

Lightning from the newborn eyes the air is filled with flies
Feasting on flesh's disgrace
Circling as the infant's rightful crown

Kiss the ashes, kiss the spiritless
In praise to all the foul and hated creatures of this world
Kiss the sky goodbye
Light will cheer with absence for the newborn lord of flies

Nightspawn

Darkwinged creation
Come forth from the shadows
Revel your lust for vengeance
Revel your endless hate

With you we'll rule the earth
Rule their dreams
Rule to breed
What famine feeds
Spread our wings
Spread disease
Live to let
Our pest unleash

With you we'll rule the earth
Reveal our might, infect the soil
Darken the hope of salvation in sight
We have arrived to end your lives
Kindred cadaver dine
So your wings may hold out this flight

Swarm over the glory and grace
Covered in filth and blood
As icons of reeking disgust solemn rewarded by god the horror strikes fast in their hearts and still,
Life never last forever
Even angels from the sky to face us who never die
But the gates have already been entered
And the black in our souls
Will forever be ...
When the black sun once more rises
When only darkness lives

Nightspawn
With you we'll rule the earth