

Grinspoon, Fall Away

ive counted in centigrades, uhe smells i need you to wanna say all the times that you lied them things got a little strange, i got rung said uhe these things move in centigrades if i ever let you stumble, if i ever fall away no one realised when you were hard to rearrange i waited for times to please, those razors do make me bleed i need you to wanna see all the times that you lied them things got a little strange, you got sent out on your own again these things seem to operate if i ever let u stumble, if i ever fall away

no one realised when you were hard to rearrange please still forget this number, but if you ever fall away comets werent founded left your darkness rearranged ive counted in centigrades, those are silent in the haze its time now for you to say, all the things you felt inside

if i ever let you stumble, if i ever fall away
no one realised when you were hard to rearrange please still forget this number, but if u ever fall away comets werent founded left your darkness rearranged