

Gryner Emm, Death Is A New Day

All the world's on hold inside this room
I try to shine like a brand new star but it's hard to do
How famous do I have to be to see you again
How much money do I have to have to buy the end
I've got nothing to say and nothing to do
But hope I heal soon
'Cause death is a new day
A new day without you
Seven here and midnight where you are
I never knew that easy feeling could make all this so hard
If I called you a dead man I might survive
Dancing to your favourite rock songs in my spare time
Every other thing that breathes goes up against you
They try to scrape you from my skin but they always lose
As I close the door on you and end the crusade
I tell the pieces of you to go but I feel them stay 1998 Emm Gryner (SOCAN/ASCAP). All rights reserved.