Gui Boratto, No Turning Back

Take a chance in those wonderful words you just dont understand I can show you the way but I know that youll never be there All the time, all the shine of your eyes I would never forget All I know theres no time, theres no life, there is no turning back There is no turning back There is no turning back

Take a chance in those wonderful words you just dont understand I can show you the way but I know that youll never be there All the time, all the shine of your eyes I would never forget All I know theres no time, theres no life, there is no turning back There is no turning back There is no turning back