

Guster, Scars And Stitches

Can you remember?
What the future held
A little candy ring
And a mystic oceans shell
But they were all anesthetized
And slowly washed away
Left all the poison in the sands in which I played
I dont mind falling down and scraping up my knees
Scars and Stitches always fade and only strengthen me
But with my eyes as wide as pearls
My only centerpiece
Is taken like a dead mans urn and tossed into the sea
Write me like a letter
And dot your Is and cross you Ts
Nothing was everything to me
Under the monsters claws and in between his teeth
Was the shadow and a silhouette of what Id thought Id be?
I dont mind falling down and scraping up my knees
Scars and Stitches always fade and only strengthen me
But with my eyes as wide as pearls
My only centerpiece
Well its taken like a dead mans urn and tossed into the sea
