

Guttermouth, Gold

i think i've been infected with the flu once again boredom's got me feeling blue sometimes in this life you've got to cut the crap sit down for my rights cuz i don't care to do what everybody else would do. i'm fine right here i voted once but i didn't win. i'll never vote again people say i should give a damn people say that i should respect this land but i say no way i won't compromise either way my life remains the same it's great, come join me at the lake it's freshly stocked no work just play leeching off the state all day clears my mind they say this is the land of the free to me that means i have the liberty to sit for my rights cuz i don't care to do what everybody else would do i'm fine right here
i voted once but i didn't win i'll never vote again god bless america home of the whopper god bless america billions billions served every week from moscow to madagascar, ronald mcdonald's smile warms the hearts of all people regardless of race. color, creed, sex and social status by opening 3 new mcdonalds restaurants as ambassador of my country, america, ronald personally invites you to join him on his quest to end world hunger enjoy